PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

Purpose & Benefits

Engineered for extreme warmth and durability, the Humphrey Law Thermal Socks are made from a high-density wool blend, fully lined with terry throughout. The soft terry loops trap air against the skin, forming a natural insulation layer that locks in body heat while repelling the cold. This makes them ideal for anyone working in cool rooms, outdoor winter environments, or enjoying alpine activities like hiking and camping.

Reinforced heels and toes enhance longevity, making these socks not only comfortable but highly practical for demanding use.

Features

- Thick, fully terry-lined for maximum insulation
- High wool content retains warmth in cold conditions
- Traps warm air next to the foot for natural thermal regulation
- Reinforced heel and toe for extra strength and durability
- Suitable for cool room work, camping, hiking, or general cold-weather use
