Purpose & Benefits of the Intellinetix Vibration Therapy Gloves

Intellinetix Vibration Therapy Gloves are designed to provide targeted vibration therapy, a unique and innovative approach to pain management and circulation improvement in the hands. These gloves are particularly beneficial for individuals suffering from arthritis, Raynaud's syndrome, or general hand pain and stiffness. The gentle vibration helps stimulate blood flow, reduce pain, and increase the warmth in the hands, thereby enhancing flexibility and reducing swelling. Ideal for daily use, these therapy gloves offer a non-invasive solution to manage hand discomfort, making daily tasks more comfortable and manageable.

Features

- Vibration Therapy: Utilizes targeted vibration to reduce pain and improve circulation, which can be particularly effective for arthritis and other hand-related conditions.
- Adjustable Intensity: Features adjustable vibration settings to cater to personal comfort levels and specific therapeutic needs.
- Rechargeable Batteries: Equipped with rechargeable batteries that provide convenient, cord-free operation and ensure the gloves can be used anywhere.
- Comfortable Fit: Made from a soft, breathable fabric that fits snugly but comfortably over the hands, allowing for extended wear without discomfort.
- Touchscreen Compatible: The gloves are designed to work with touchscreen devices, so users do not need to remove them to use phones or tablets.
- Easy to Use: Simple controls make it easy to turn the vibration on and off and adjust settings, even for those with limited hand dexterity.
